

WE CAN SOLDIER BURDEN

WANT a professional workforce with integrity, loyalty, organisational skills? Then hire an ex-soldier.

The Sun's Jobs for Heroes campaign is helping place hundreds of former servicemen and women back in mainstream employment.

One person we've helped is Ryan Swan.

The 27-year-old from Wimbledon, south west London, was a private with the Royal Artillery but left a year ago.

After six months on the dole and a string of bar and labouring jobs, Ryan has now found work as a technician with cooler firm Tana Water. He was found the job by our partner firm ForceSelect.

Ryan, below, told Sunemployment: "Soldiers make fantastic staff. We're organised, disciplined and can work without direction. We are loyal and have outstanding timekeeping."
